PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume I will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, OCT. 15, 1833.

☞ CORRECTION.—The intelligence contained in the extract of a letter, which we republished, from the National Gazette, on Saturday last, stating that "Mr. M'Lane had resigned his seat in the Cabinet, and challenged Mr. Taney, was not correct. We should have made this correction yesterday; but, in the hurry of publication, forgot it.—Our attention has, however, been recalled to it this morning, and this correction is better now, though "late, than never."

THE CONNECTION WITH THE OHIO CANAL.—Within a week past, we have conversed with several gentlemen, just from Philadelphia, all of whom assure us that the business men and capitalists of that city, begin to feel the necessity of a connection with the Ohio Canal, and to take a deep interest in its speedy completion. They also assure us that there is a clear and decided preference entertained there for the Canal, by the Mahoning rout.

Relying, fully, upon the correctness of this intelligence, we take the liberty to suggest to our fellow citizens, in Philadelphia, the propriety of their sending delegates to the convention, about to assemble at Warren, on the 13th day of November next.

This convention is to consist of delegates from those parts of Ohio and Pennsylvania, interested in the completion of a Canal from the Pennsylvania Canal, by the Mahoning to Akron, on the Ohio Canal; and certainly no part of either State is more interested than Philadelphia.

Considerable doubt and difficulty exists in the minds of many persons, as to the best plan to be adopted for the execution of this important work. Some persons incline to make a direct application to the legislatures of the two States, to urge them to undertake the work as a State object. Others prefer asking the States to become Stockholders in companies, to be organized for this purpose.—There are others, again, who are disposed to ask of the States, guarantees to Stockholders of a certain amount of interest, for a definite number of years.

In a discussion of these matters, the opinions of the capitalists of Philadelphia must have a controlling influence; and, under no circumstances, could they be discussed more advantageously than where intelligent persons, from those parts of both states which are interested, were assembled.

It is highly desirable that the plan of operations should be arranged before the legislature assembles; and this plan can, we think, be no where better arranged than at Warren—provided delegates, in whom the Philadelphians have confidence, should be there to aid by their information and counsel.

Should our fellow citizens, in Philadelphia, think proper to act upon this suggestion, it would afford an encouraging earnest of their determination to engage seriously in this project, and would enable us to approach the legislature, next winter, in concert.

If this opportunity, for a proper understanding, and proper arrangements, is suffered to pass unimproved, any application, which we may make, next winter, will be much less imposing, and much less likely to be effectual.—We hope our friends in Philadelphia will think about it.

HEARTY OLD AGE.—Mrs. Mackenzie, an elderly Scotch lady, who resides on the waters of Turtle Creek, in this county, when she was a girl, knit a pair of stockings for a young Scottish officer, who was then in America, and who, being afterwards killed at this place, in Grant's defeat, in 1758, never returned to wear them. This same lady, during the last summer, wove three pieces of cloth. One of flannel, one of thick cloth, and a blanket.—Supposing this venerable lady to have been only fifteen when she knit those stockings, she must now be ninety years old.

During this week, our arrivals from the east—17 boats.

Departed to the eastward, in the same time—24 boats.

Total amount of Tolls for the week, on this line, $753 86 cents.

The arrivals from the east are fully laden with merchandise, dry goods, foreign liquors, salt, and blooms.

The departures from this place, eastward, are light, owing to the extreme lowness of water preventing river navigation.

From the Harrisburgh Intelligencer, Oct. 11

Elections.—In Lebanon county the antimasonic ticket is elected by upwards of 200 majority. In York county we hear the Democrats have succeeded by a large majority.

Adams county has returned Antimasonic members to the Legislature by a majority of between 300 and 500.

In Cumberland county Samuel Piper, a volunteer candidate, is said to be elected, over the regularly nominated democratic ticket.

Messrs Sharon and Bratton are re-elected from Juniata and Mifflin, one an antimason and the other a democrat.

In Huntingdon the whole antimasonic ticket is elected by a large majority.

Somerset and Bedford—Jackson candidate elected to Senate.

In the former county two Antimasons elected to the House of Representatives.

In the latter county two anti Jackson men are elected.

In Bucks county three Jacksonites and one Antimason are elected to the Legislature.

Forty thousand bushels of wheat, direct from Archangel, have been received at the port of Quebec.

Opium.—Dr. de Kay, the author of the recent popular and well written Sketches of Turkey, remarks that the consumption of opium, in the U. States, is so much more than is required by the prescriptions of the medical faculty, as to deserve the attention of the Temperance Societies. In one village, says the author, according to information received from a medical man, I know of twenty persons who are in the daily habit of taking opium!

The Life and Voyages of Christopher Columbus, by Washington Irving, (abridged by the same)—with additions and improvements by the author. Printed by J. and J. Harper, 1833.

The legislature of New York have relaxed in favor of this little volume, their rule not to interfere in regard to the course of tuition adopted in the Common Schools of that State, and have recommended it, from the "national character of the subject, the fidelity and interest of the narrative, and the purity and elegance of the style," as eminently fit to be used for a class book, in the Common Schools of the State.

This powerful recommendation is enforced by the following suggestions, contained in a circular, written by J. A. Dix, Esq. Superintendent of the Common Schools of New York, to the Trustees of the several School districts. Nothing can be added to strengthen the claims of such a volume to public attention:

"Mr. Irving was among the first of the natives of this State, who have devoted themselves to the pursuits of literature. He commenced his career as an author, in the city of New York, at a time when the impulses to literary distinction found little encouragement in the prevailing spirit of enterprise, and the busy habits of society. The character of the country was essentially commercial; and neither wealth nor leisure was lent, in any considerable degree, to the cultivation of letters. Notwithstanding these unpropitious circumstances, his earliest productions excited a general interest among his countrymen, through the same originality of thought, and beauty of expression, which so eminently distinguish his later works, and which command the admiration of all who are familiar with our language and literature. In a word, it may be said, without injustice to any of his cotemporaries, that no native of the United States, has contributed in a greater degree to rescue our literary character from reproach, by extorting, even from the harsh awards of European criticism, unqualified testimonials of praise.

The "Life and Voyages of Columbus," were written under circumstances well calculated to secure what the author is universally admitted to have attained—fidelity in historical detail, and in delineations both of national and individual character. Unwilling to trust to the narratives, for the most part, contradictory and ill authenticated, in which the history of the discovery had been transmitted to our own times, Mr. Irving repaired to Madrid, and sought the materials for his work in the archives of that ancient city. He consulted the most authentic sources of intelligence, with regard to the man of whose character and actions it was to treat, and with regard to the country and the age with which he is identified; and he composed it amid the living memorials of ancient Spain, with the records of her chivalry, her power, and her magnificence before him. He has presented the conflicts of the discoverer with the prejudices of the Old World, and with the seductions and perils of the New, the glorious triumph of his great enterprise, and the termination of his career amid the visitations of neglect and ingratitude, in a strain of chaste and eloquent diction, unsurpassed, if not unequalled, by any work of the present day; and he has imbued it deeply with a pure and high toned morality.

The abridgment, which the legislature have recommended in the foregoing resolutions, to be used in the Common Schools as a class book, possesses all the characteristic merits of the original work, although, in a composition so full of beauties, many have necessarily been lost in compressing it into a narrower compass: and the Superintendent does not hesitate to say, that he knows no work better suited to be introduced into the Common Schools for the use of the higher classes. Independently of the unblemished purity of its style and thought, it exhibits in a minute detail, with which all should be familiar, the discovery and first settlement by civilized men of the continent, in which our own country occupies so conspicuous a place—a continent destined, perhaps, at no distant day, through the influence of the free institutions which have taken root among us, to change the political character of the Old World, by pouring into it, in streams far more precious than the fountains of wealth which were opened by the discovery, the treasures of an enlightened and practical freedom."

THE BRITISH ARMY AT N. ORLEANS.

The following interesting documents have been sent us for insertion:—

"STANMORE, Aug. 16, 1833.

"Sir—As second in command of the army serving at New Orleans, in the year 1815, I beg to inclose to you a declaration signed by several officers, which has reference to your work, entitled "Three Years in North America," and I entertain no doubt you will, on the perusal, in justice to the honor of the British army, and to the memory of the brave and gallant officer who commanded in chief, give it all the publicity in your power; and should your popular book be extended to a third edition, this formal denial of the truth of the points referred to, will find a place therein. I have the honor to remain, sir, your obedient servant,

JOHN LAMBERT, L. G.

"James Stuart, Esq."

Declaration enclosed in the preceding letter.

The two following paragraphs, extracted from a work recently published, entitled "Three Years in North America," by James Stuart, Esq. when speaking of the expedition to N. Orleans, in 1815, express—

1. "It has been said, and never contradicted, so far as I could learn, at New Orleans, that the British commander in chief had promised the plunder of the city to his army. This is a matter which even now concerns the honor of the British name, for the statement is founded on no light authority.

2. "Mr. Eaton, holding one of the highest offices in the general government of the U. States, the present (1830) Secretary at War to the American Government at Washington, and the author of a life of General Jackson, expressly asserts, in that work, that 'booty and beauty' was the watch word of Sir Edward Packenham's army in the battle of the 8th.—He thus writes—"Let it be remembered of that gallant, but misguided general, who has been so much deplored by the British nation, that to the cupidity of his soldiers he promised the wealth of the city, as a recompense for their gallantry and desperation, while, with brutal licentiousness, they were to revel in lawless indulgeance, and triumph, uncontrolled, over female innocence. Scenes like these our nation, dishonored and insulted, had already witnessed at Hampton, and Havre de Grace, (alluding to Sir G. Cockburn's expedition;) but it was reserved for her yet to learn that an officer of high standing, polished, generous, and brave, should, to induce his soldiers to acts of daring valor, permit them, as a reward, to insult, injure, and debase those whom all mankind, even savages, reverence and respect. The history of Europe, since civilized warfare began, is challenged to afford an instance of such gross depravity, such wanton outrage on the morals and dignity of society. English writers may deny the correctness of the charge; it certainly interests them to do so; but its authenticity is too well established to admit a doubt, while its criminality is increased from being the act of a people who hold themselves up to surrounding nations as examples of every thing that is correct and proper." This charge does not rest upon Mr. Eaton's authority alone. It is mentioned in all the American statements, relative to the battle, down to the present day. Mr. Timothy Flint, who has given a detailed account of the campaign, repeats it in his 'Geography and History of the Western States;' and it also appears in the Travels of Bernhard, Duke of Saxe Weimer, brother in law of the Duke of Clarence (now King of Great Britain,) published so late as 1828."

"Now we, the undersigned, serving in that army, and actually present, and through whom all orders to the troops were promulgated, do, in justice to the memory of that distinguished officer, who commanded, and led the attack, the whole tenor of whose life was marked by manliness of purpose, and integrity of view, most unequivocally deny that any such promise was ever held out to the army, or that the watch word asserted to have been given out, was ever issued, and further that such motives could never have actuated the man who, in discharge of his duty to his King and country, so eminently upheld the character of a true British soldier.

"That a refutation of the above calumnies not having before appeared, is solely to be attributed to their not having come to the knowledge of the undersigned, that they existed, until the work from which they are taken was given to the public, in the present year, 1833."

During the first contest in which General Jackson appeared as a candidate for the office of President, those of his friends who admitted that he might prove deficient as a statesman, argued that he would select an able cabinet, and thus no inconvenience could result. The fact is very different from the anticipation. He has made, more changes in his "cabinet proper" than any of his predecessors, or all of them together; and, by the theory of his relations with the members, as promulgated and executed in the case of Mr. Duane, and the Secretaries of State and of War, he does not use them to supply his deficiencies, but recognizes them as but mere agents of his will. Sic volo, sic jubeo, is the understanding. And this relation must be doubly injurious and derogatory, since it is known that his will, maxims, and behests are not original;—that they proceed from the arts and laboratories of a spurious cabinet, a cabal who render "the government" a sort of imposture throughout. The argument which was used as we have said in the first contest, and which certainly had a considerable effect, has been falsified in the worst manner. From the period of the establishment of our constitution, the Cabinet proper, as a body, has never been so inefficient as council, supplement, or coadjutor in political or general administration, as since the accession of President Jackson.—Nat. Gaz.

Maryland for Jackson.—The accounts received last evening inform us that the State has gone for Jackson. In the First District, Mr. Dennis, the anti Jackson candidate, has been elected to Congress by about two hundred majority. In the Second District, Mr. Carmichael, the Jackson candidate, is elected by a majority of about two hundred. In the Third District, Mr. Tutner, Jackson man, is elected by a majority of 1,474. In the Fourth District, Mr. Heath, Jacksonian, is elected. Mr. M'Kim's majority, in the Fifth District, is 389. In the Sixth District, Mr. Johnson, anti Jackson, is elected, and in the Seventh District, Mr. Thomas, Jacksonian, is elected by a large majority.—From the Eighth District but few returns are received.—Balt. Repub.

From the Winchester Republican.

Trouble in the Wigwam.—The Albany Regency is in convulsions. It seems that Governor Marcy, who is a man of quite as much tact as Mr. Van Buren, and infinitely his superior in talents, has turned his back upon the Regency, and thrown himself into the arms of the people. Since his elevation to the Governorship of New York, this gentleman has obtained a popularity almost equal to that which De Witt Clinton once enjoyed—and he is now supposed to be a stronger man with the electors of that State than Mr. Van Buren. Well may the latter say of his rebellious general—

"High reaching Buckingham grows circumspect."

He may serve the Vice President as Mehemet Ali of Egypt has served Sultan Mahmoud. If Governor Marcy 'cuts' the Regency, he cuts the throat political of Martin Van Buren. And so we say to Wm. L. Marcy—

'Hail to thee, thane of Cawdor,
Greater than all, by thee all hail hereafter!'

We have for some time expected that some one of Mr. Van Buren's long headed 'Regents' would get the power of the State of New York into his own hands and set up for himself. And now—

'The hour has come! and the MAN!'

Steam Boat Explosion.—It is our painful duty to announce a serious disaster that occurred on board the new steam boat, New England, on her passage from New York. It appears that, at an early hour yesterday, when the boat was off Essex, the north parish of Saybrook, both boilers exploded, and so great was the concussion, that hardly a fragment of either was left.

We understand that there were upwards of one hundred passengers on board. Among the number was a young friend of ours, who left us the previous evening to attend the University at Middletown—from him we have received the following:—

MIDDLETOWN, (Conn.) Oct. 9.

I have this moment arrived, and presuming that you have heard of the dreadful accident that occurred to the steam boat, I hasten to drop you a line. Through the mercy of a kind Providence, I am safe and unhurt. Such a scene I never witnessed. The explosion took place about 3 o'clock in the morning. I was in my berth at the time, and was aroused amidst the crash and thunder of the explosion, and the shrieks and groans of the wounded and dying.

About twenty six are badly burned—some of whom, I think, cannot survive. One child was dead when I left the boat, and the baggage master was missing—it was feared he was blown overboard.—Connecticut Advertiser.

Extensive Forgeries.—Yesterday, about noon, Messrs. Copeland & Lovering received a letter from Charles Brown, of the late firm of Brown & Ellis, merchants on Long Wharf, but more recently a broker, stating that he was owing $100,000, that they could not find him, dead or alive, &c. It had been enclosed to his brother, Mr. Nathaniel Brown, on Saturday, with directions, if he did not appear on Monday, at noon, to deliver it to Messrs. C. & L. This letter induced inquiries, which resulted in ascertaining, that, for some time past, Brown had been engaged in extensive forgeries of the names of merchants to notes, as promissors and endorsers, which he had negotiated, to the amount, it is said, of one hundred thousand dollars! Among the names of those he had forged, were Messrs. Copeland & Lovering, Nathaniel Brown, his brother, and Isaac Jackson, (of the firm of Jackson & Tilton,) Boston, and Thomas Jackson, of Plymouth. These forged notes he had disposed of to a considerable number of merchants, and others, at one per cent. per month interest, &c. The forgeries were generally well executed. We understand there is as yet no clue to the direction he has taken.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

No additional circumstances have transpired to indicate the rout Brown has taken. Some of the banks in the city, and one or two in the vicinity have received a considerable proportion of the notes of his forging. The amount of his depredations is believed to be that stated above.—Ibid.

Three thousand four hundred and six dollars were collected at the American Colonization Society meeting, held in New York on Thursday last. When will Philadelphians be equally generous and spirited in the same good cause?

At that meeting were passed the following, among other resolutions.—Amer. Sent.

Resolved, That in the judgment of this meeting, the principles and measures of the American Colonization Society are favorable to the union and happiness of our country, as well as conducive to the relief and improvement of the whole African race.

Resolved, That the establishment of Christian Colonies of free men of color on the African coast, promises the largest and most enduring benefits to Africa, and to the general cause of humanity and religion.

Resolved, that at the present crisis, the friends of the American Colonization Society are urged by the most weighty considerations to explain its views, make known its success, and aid its resources.

General Jackson has been in office a little more than four years and a half in the whole. During that time, he has had no less than three Secretaries of State, viz: Martin Van Buren, Edward Livingston, and Louis M'Lane; four Secretaries of the Treasury, Samuel D. Ingham, Louis M'Lane, William J. Duane, and Roger B. Taney; two Secretaries of War, John H. Eaton and Lewis Cass; and two Secretaries of the Navy, John Branch and Levi Woodbury. Few of the changes have been voluntary. The greater part of those who have gone out of office, have not died a natural political death.

Charles Getter was executed at Easton, Pa., for the murder of his wife, on Friday, the 4th inst.—An immense number of spectators witnessed the shocking exhibition. The spot chosen for the execution was a small island on the Delaware. At the appointed hour, the wretched criminal was swung off, but the rope broke, and precipitated him to the ground. He was stunned by the fall, but soon recovered, and awaited his impending fate with composure for about twenty minutes, when he was again suspended, and expired, after a short struggle. Some days previous to the execution, he made a full confession of the murder.

It is believed that Mr. Biddle, President of the U. S. Bank, and Mr. Duane, late Secretary of the Treasury, now that the Pennsylvania election is over, will immediately lay before the public their opinions in relation to the subjects in which they are immediately implicated.—N. Y. Gaz.

Meat on Friday.—Dr. Brownle states, in his last letter on the Catholic controversy, that Bishop English, who has just returned from Europe, has succeeded in obtaining a dispensation from his Holiness, the Pope, permitting the members of the Catholic Church, in the United States, to eat meat on Friday.—Poulson, Oct. 12.

Freedom of Opinion.—The late cabinet consultation, on the removal of the deposits, will be chronicled by historians as one of the most extraordinary political events of the age. In relation to the freedom of opinion, which prevailed at this discussion, the N. H. Statesman relates the following anecdote:

"When the choice of Emperor took place in France, for the advancement of Napoleon Bonaparte, it is related that a division of the army was drawn up for the purpose of giving their suffrages, when the commander made proclamation that the election was free; 'vote for whom you prefer, without fear or hope of favor, the election is free; each man will vote for whom he pleases, but,' said he, 'the first man who votes for any other than Napoleon will be shot at the head of his regiment!' "

Such is the character of "the frank and respectful declarations of the President," "not made in the spirit of dictation," but which, if not observed, exposes men to his vengeance.—Poulson.

Tennessee Senator.—Twenty seven ballots for Senator had been made in the Tennessee Legislature, without any change of purpose, indicating the probability of an election. The 27th ballot stood—

Grundy,	24
Foster,	19
Eaton,	17

This is just the same result as that of the first ballot.

It is a fact, worthy of remark, that Mr. Eaton is the person whom President Jackson wishes to be chosen Senator. To effect that object, the President exerted all his personal influence, and, most probably, some of an official character. Yet Mr. Eaton is the lowest in votes of the three candidates. This fact does not argue much for President Jackson's influence in Tennessee,—and looks a little squally for the Kitchen Cabinet Candidate for Succession.—Cincinnati Dai. Gaz.

An English Company, established at Archangel, under the firm of Brand, has obtained from the Emperor of Russia permission to explore and create establishments on the northern coast of Asia. At the same time, there is forming, on the coast of the Black Sea, at Trebisond, another English establishment, destined to open new commercial relations with Hindostan, by way of Persia, under the protection of the diplomatic agent of Great Britain.—London Paper.

Latest from Portugal.—The brig Clarissa Ann, Capt. Owen, arrived at Bath, on the 7th, from Lisbon. Captain O. sailed on the 26th of August.—On the 19th, Don Miguel's troops evacuated Villa Nova, after having burnt and destroyed warehouses belonging to the Oporto company, principally containing port wine—the loss is estimated at $2,000,000. Oporto is free, and vessels go in and out without danger, and is well supplied with every thing.

Don Miguel had his H. Q. at Coimbra; his partisans said he would attack Lisbon, but it was generally supposed he would be afraid to do so, as all the inhabitants were under arms, and staunch to the liberal cause. Business was at a dead stand, and no demand for American produce. All ports in favor of Don Miguel were strictly blockaded.—Poulson, Oct. 12.

Mr. Catlin's Paintings.—This gentleman has consented to arrange his paintings of individual Indians, and Indian Scenery, for exhibition in this city, intending shortly to remove them to New York. Mr. Catlin has devoted the entire Summer to the completion of these paintings, & such has been his assiduity that many supposed he had again proceeded to the far West. His collection is, in every view, a most interesting one. The whole is so out of the line of what is known, that some incredulity naturally attaches itself to it. It is, however, but to examine the whole, and converse with Mr. Catlin in relation to it, to have this incredulity removed. At least, I can say for myself, that so I found it.—Cincinnati Dai. Gaz.

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county---and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others--- a soil rich and productive---the neighborhood abounding in coal---well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention. state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
